

Technology Lifecycle Management Review

When was the last time you committed the time to reviewing your infrastructure support model? If it has been a while you might be paying for equipment no longer in productive use. Or, even worse, you may be at risk from an uncovered critical system.

Too little time and too few resources

As your company adopts and installs new technologies, the complexity of your tech support and maintenance program grows. You might have dozens of original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) and maintenance providers servicing your hardware and software. Managing so many vendors is not just a logistical challenge, it can consume your time and set you behind on other more important projects. How much time is wasted? On average, IT staff members spend 40% of their time performing maintenance tasks – about 800 hours per year, per employee. LRS IT Solutions can give you back precious time and apply ordered administration to your maintenance program.

What can LRS do to help?

Our lifecycle management experts can help you understand the details regarding your current coverage programs and services. We take the time to methodically analyze inventory reports, service levels, coverage locations, and contract terms. We will collaborate with your team to identify and prioritize the challenges of your current IT infrastructure support model and define your optimized support program. Once this analysis is complete we will make recommendations and build an action plan to achieve success.

What are some of the benefits?

- We save you time – We provide a single online resource to track and manage your contracts. No more guessing what's covered and what's not.
- We save you money – Identifying equipment that no longer needs to be covered, right-sizing your service levels, and recommending alternate coverage models puts money back in your budget.
- We put you in control – Our lifecycle approach helps you extend the life of your equipment. Upgrade and replace on your schedule.

What is the cost?

LRS lifecycle reviews are no cost to you! If we do discover critical uncovered items you want to add to a contract a charge will apply. Our team will work to secure the best possible pricing on any new items.
